Third Time

Thought I'd comment on the recent rally from the last significant correction nearly nine months ago. I've drawn the significant up trend line for this period from the July 2010 lows through March 2011.

As you can see, there were two previous "breakdowns" that turned out to be buying opportunities as the market jumped higher after seeming to fall apart. We are now in the third similar situation. The question then, of course, is whether the current "breakdown" is of the same nature? Will it resume the uptrend or will it fall apart?

The best answer at this time is really not an answer. The best thing is to wait and see what the market itself does. Obviously, however, from the Growth Portfolio allocations between equity and cash, I am

WEEKLY REVIEW

3/9/11 I'll move the remainder of cash (money market) into TLH. If stocks pull back, this area should benefit.

2/28/11 Please note that I've raised the stop levels as the bond rally continues.

2/22/11 The contrarian buys from last week have paid off so far, especially the TIP buy.

2/14/11 I'll reenter the bond market again with some contrary oriented buys. Please note the sell stops near recent lows.

ETF data on pages 3, 7, 8, and 9 are for the periods shown (12months, 9, 6, 3, and 1) through the previous month's end; that is, 2/28/11.

This is the ETF Income Database and Ranking. It shows performance over the last 12, 9, 6, 3, and 1 months through the previous month's end. V is Volatility. NAV is price. CS is Comet Strength. C is Comet, which is an ETF's risk-adjusted performance; the higher the better. V, CS, and C are proprietary tools.

SLM Bond Timing Model

The SLM Bond Timing Model is based on the expected direction of the Corporate Bond market. The green bars are bullish (expect higher prices and lower yields) and the red bars are bearish (expect lower prices and higher yields). White spaces indicate that the previous signal is still in effect.

WEEKLY REVIEW

3/9/11 As mentioned on the next page, after the corporate and Treasury bond markets break out to the upside, it pulled back. Time to accumulate.

2/28/11 The SLM Bond Timing Model has turned bullish last week. Prices broke upwards through their well-defined down trend lines. This was anticipated.

2/22/11 The long term support for Treasuries appears to have held. They have bounced off support into their resistance line that has held the last six months. Given the Middle East turmoil, I'd expect the Treasury market to continue to rally.

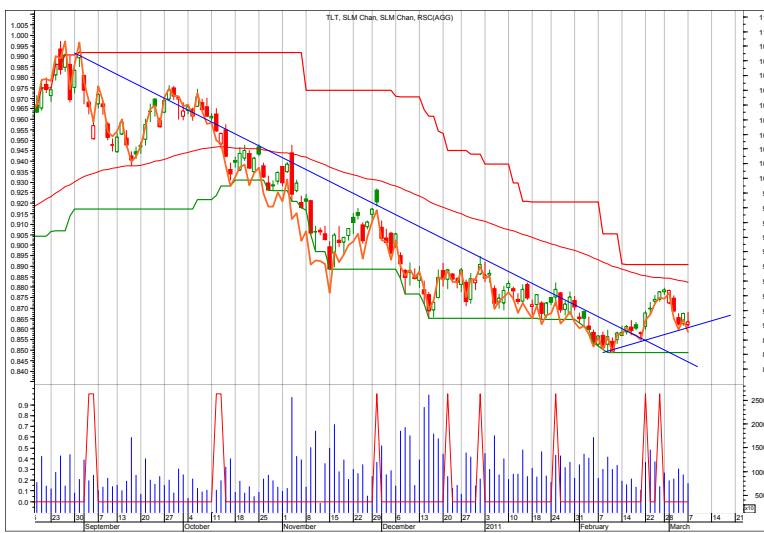

2/14/11 The SLM Bond Timing Model is still bearish. But on a longer term chart the TLT (treasuries) is at major support levels around 88-90. That level was support back in June, 2008, June, 2009, and winter 2010. So I will begin to accumulate in anticipation of a trend change.

Income Charts

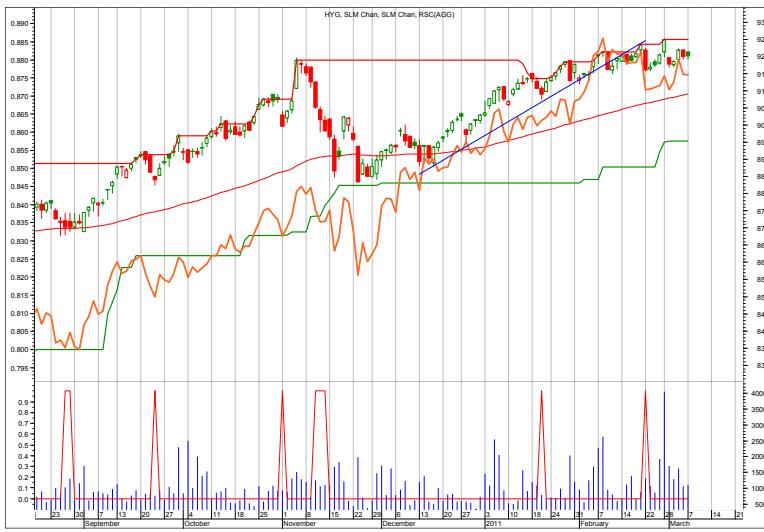

TIP—Inflation Protected

3/9/11 Continue to hold.
 2/28/11 A pullback would not be unprecedented after the sharp rally.
 2/22/11 Made reversal. Now needs to record a recovery high and not make new lows.
 2/14/11 Looking for a reversal.
 2/4/11 Got stopped out. Bear market.
 1/31/11 Watch for rally.
 1/24/11 Pullback to uptrend. Good entry point.

TLT--20 year Treasury bond

3/9/11 Need to see the new up trend hold.
 2/28/11 Expect further rally.
 2/22/11 Chance of bottom at major support.
 2/14/11 Looking for a reversal.
 2/4/11 A ledge.
 1/31/11 Bouncing along a bottom or a ledge on the way down?
 1/24/11 Still weak.
 1/18/11 Potential trend change.

HYG—High Yield

3/9/11 Still moving sideways after a good rally.
 2/28/11 Potential trouble is signaled in the high-yield bond market. This bears monitoring.
 2/22/11 Needs to remain above trend.
 2/14/11 Standing aside.
 2/4/11 Investors are stretching for yield.
 1/31/11 Still waiting.
 1/24/11 Waiting for a pullback to buy.

Each chart shows daily prices (top portion), volume (bottom portion), a moving average (smoothed red line on price portion, a relative strength indicator between the ETF and AGG (Aggregated bond ETF) (orange line), and red spikes. The spikes show potential places to buy and sell short. If the moving average is trending down, the spike shows a potential sell shorts. If the moving average is trending up, the spike shows potential buys. The charts do not show selling or covering signals.

WEEKLY REVIEW

3/9/11 XLE looks like it is turning over and will be sold.

2/28/11 Will continue to stand aside for the most part from the long side of the market. It still appears overbought and under appreciative of the turmoil in the Middle East and North Africa.

2/22/11 Will raise even more cash, given the Middle East uncertainty. The market was very overbought and is due for a correction.

2/14/11 Raised the SLV stop very close. It should either continue its recovery or fail.
Still waiting for a pullback to buy.

This page shows the top ranked ETF Equity Database. It shows performance over the last 12, 9, 6, 3, and 1 months through the previous month's end. V is Volatility. NAV is price. CS is Comet Strength. C is Comet, which is an ETF's risk-adjusted performance; the higher the better.

Generally speaking, we want to own the top-ranked ETFs with 5 and 4 comets. (Comets, not stars, because unlike stars that are fixed, comets come into and out of prominence. We want our thinking, our metaphor aligning with reality.

Growth Charts

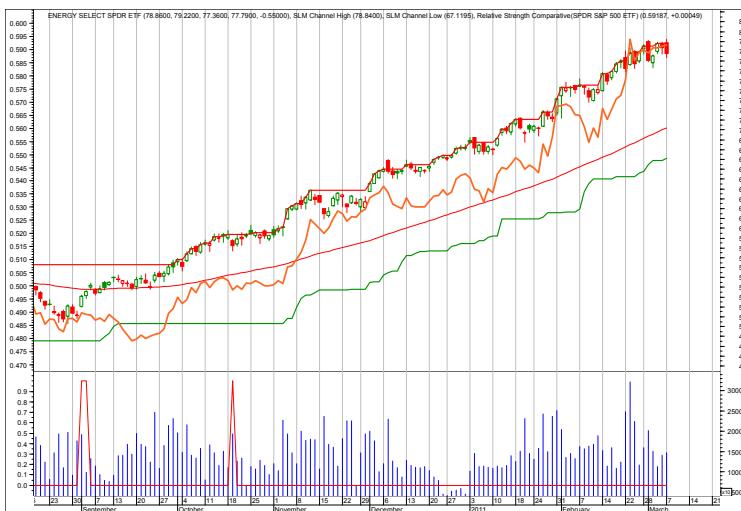

SLV—Silver

3/9/11 Still moving up.
 2/28/11 SLV has been on a tear. Raise the sell stop again.
 2/22/11 Maintain close stop.
 2/14/11 Caught the rally, but watch the declining volume. Watch the stop.
 2/4/11 Holding.
 1/31/11 Long SLV in the portfolio. Expect rally back to recovery highs.
 1/24/11 Buy on the correction.

EWP—Spain

3/9/11 Still sideways.
 2/28/11 Reenter the short position with a close stop above previous highs. March 10 the Bank of Spain announce capital requirements; up to Euro $50 billion is expected.
 2/22/11 Stopped out.
 2/14/11 Hold short.
 2/4/11 Rally appears over. Hold short.
 1/31/11 Will reshorts with a close stop.

XLE—Energy

3/9/11 Take profits and stand aside.
 2/28/11 Looks like the makings of a parabolic move. This means that the rate of change increases as time goes by as more speculators pile into the trade. The price may spike higher, but would signal a top.

Overflow and Errata

still expecting that significant correction of 5% to 15%. The turmoil in the Middle East may simply be the trigger.

If we do get that correction, and then a rally, it will be important to again closely monitor the stock market. Right now the market is in gear to the upside. This doesn't mean it cannot correct. It can, but what it means is, once it corrects, it should rally back on up. In other words, the recent peak should not be the final peak of this bull market that dates back two years.

So, I will continue to stand aside from the stock market. The Income Portfolio is positioned to take advantage of any stock weakness. A stock sell off should lead to a bond rally.

The ETF database contains nearly 250 ETFs from various providers. I plan to continue expanding this in the weeks ahead.

The ETF selecting strategy is based on investing with the ETFs that are performing the best based on a risk-adjusted relative performance. Generally speaking, we want to own the strongest performers as shown by the 4 or 5 comet selections and short the 1 or 2 comet selections.

PORTFOLIO DESCRIPTIONS (pages 2 and 6)

Our guiding goal is to provide the most return with the least risk consistently over time through bull and bear markets.

Income Portfolio, page2: Uses a proprietary selection methodology on all of the monitored bond-oriented ETFs to pick the top ETFs. I then use a proprietary timing model to decide whether to buy, sell, hold, or avoid.

Growth Portfolio, page 3: Uses the same methodologies as in the Income Portfolio, except as it is applied to stock-oriented ETFs.

All portfolios were started on 1/1/10 with $100,000.

Portfolios are updated through the Friday close the week before.
