Weak Report Reflects a Trend?

With the jobs report coming in weaker than expected last Friday, the stock market is selling off and bonds are rallying. This is pretty much the opposite of what we've been seeing the last few months. At least for one day, hope for further Fed easing is reviving.

I don't see that one data point will change anything, however. The domestic economy does remain in expansion mode. The leading economic indicators continue to trend higher. And job growth has been taking place. The weakness isn't really domestic, but more international. That market remains weak.

Europe is still in a recession. While Greece has dodged a bullet with "only" a 50% haircut, what of Spain, Italy, and

WEEKLY REVIEW

4/8 No changes.

4/2 Junk (high-yield) remains relatively attractive. I will also buy PCY (emerging markets sovereign debt), but watch the stop.

3/26 Junk bonds compared to Treasuries and investment grade corporates remain cheap, as they have since 2008. But with the economy muddling along in expansion and the Fed committed to keeping interest rates low, I suspect that spread will narrow over the next year. Buy as noted above. However, with the economic weakness in Europe and China, this may impact the US. So, watch the stop level closely.

3/19 All of the positions were stopped out last week. The economic news is coming in fairly strong. The Fed hinted that QE3 is probably not going to happen (that was the sell off trigger). But, they also said they'll keep rates low through the end of 2014. So, after this pullback, I expect to reenter. I'll let the dust settle first though. Target for LQD is about 112.

ETF data on pages 3, 7, 8, 9, and 10 are for the periods shown (12months, 9, 6, 3, and 1) through the previous month's close. Generally, we want to own the top ranked ETFs (shown in green) and avoid or short the lower ranked ETFs (shown in red).

This is the ETF Income Database and Ranking. It shows performance over the last 12, 9, 6, 3, and 1 months through the previous month's end. V is Volatility. NAV is price. CS is Comet Strength (not shown). C is Comet (not shown), which is an ETF's risk-adjusted performance; the higher the better. V, CS, and C are proprietary tools. Rank column shows the number of comets.

SLM Bond Timing Model

The SLM Bond Timing Model is based on the expected direction of the Corporate Bond market. The green bars are bullish (expect higher prices and lower yields) and the red bars are bearish (expect lower prices and higher yields). White spaces indicate that the previous signal is still in effect.

WEEKLY REVIEW

4/8 The bond market is in correction mode within a long-term uptrend. I'll be watching for buy areas.

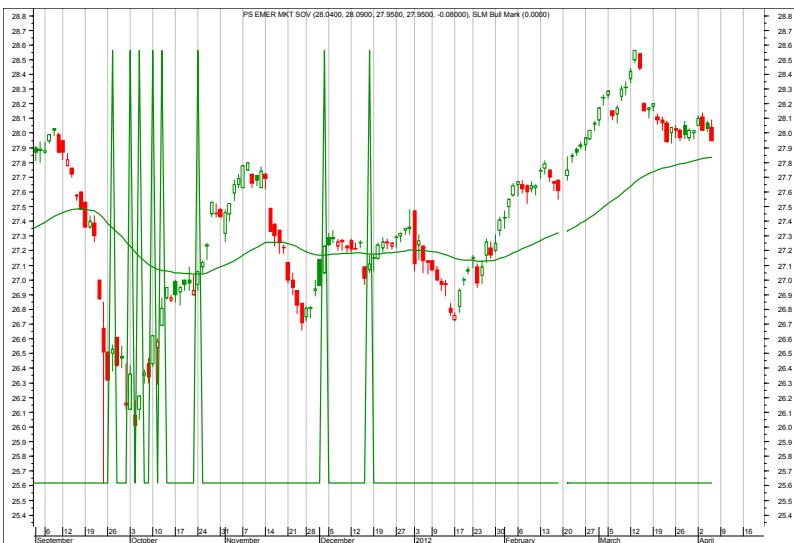

4/2 The bond market bounced back last week after its sharp sell off. I'll be watching to see if any buy signals develop. After all, the Fed has signaled its intention to keep short-term rates down through the end of 2014.

3/26 As expected, the negative divergence between corporates and Treasuries has led to a sharp selloff. I'll continue to stand aside for now, except for junk bonds (JNK) as noted on page 2.

3/19 The Model turned bearish (higher yields and lower prices forecasted).

3/12 Although the SLM Bond Timing Model is bullish this moment, it looks like the bond market is weakening. Treasuries and corporates are diverging from each other. And they have both broke their uptrend lines. Monitor the stop levels as noted on page 2 in the portfolio.

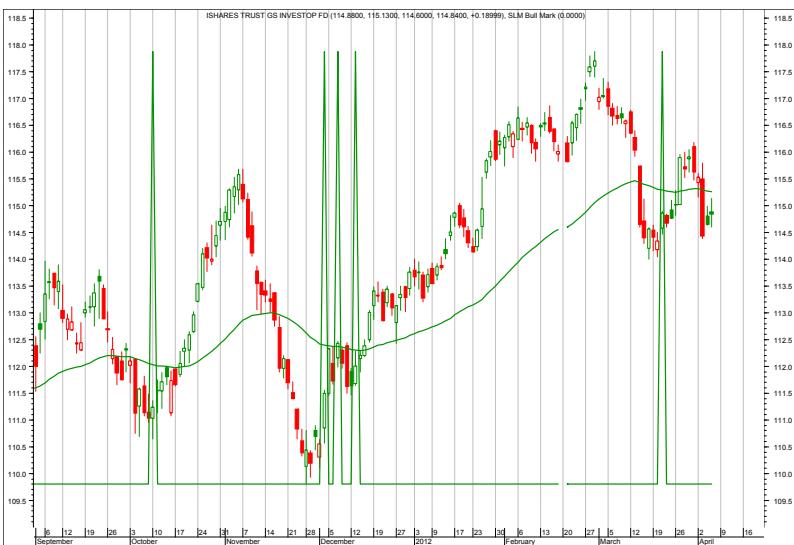

Income Charts

PCY—emerging market sovereign debt

4/8 No changes.

4/2 If the crisis in Europe is reaching an end, then PCY may benefit.

LQD—Corporate Bonds

4/8 No changes.

4/2 Bouncing. But a further pullback expected.

3/26 No changes.

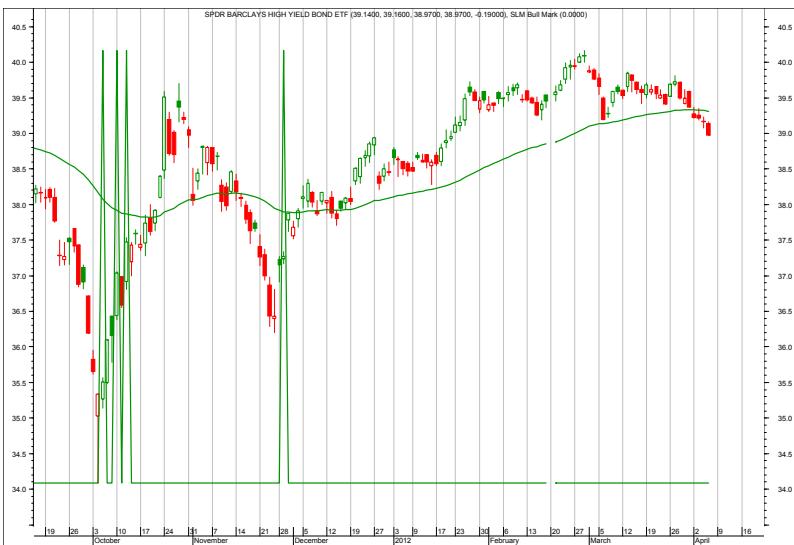

3/19 Blue trend line is the next buy target.

3/12 The strong rally of the last 3 months appears in need of rest.

3/5 No change.

2/27 Trending up.

2/21 Nice rally from the last signal, but can't go straight up forever. Watch the stops.

JNK—Hi Yield

4/8 No changes.

4/2 Continue to accumulate, but watch the stop.

3/26 JNK has dropped back to support.

Time to buy with a tight stop.

Each chart shows daily prices, a moving average (smoothed red line on price portion), and spikes. The spikes show potential buy and sell short signals. Generally speaking, if the moving average is trending down, the spike shows a potential sell short. If the moving average is trending up, the spike shows a potential buy. The charts do not show selling or covering signals.

WEEKLY REVIEW

4/8 Gold was stopped out. Will watch for a reentry point.

4/2 No changes.

3/26 Buy DVY as noted above. Buy more EEM. Note the tight stops.

3/19 I will make a couple of minor trades in here, buying GLD and EEM.

3/12 No changes.

3/5 Time to take profits. The market looks like it is at a short-term top area.

2/27 The short positions were all stopped out. The long positions participated in the rally. The net gain is nothing to write home about. Work on the newish model continues with backtesting.

This page shows the top ranked ETF Growth Database. It shows performance over the last 12, 9, 6, 3, and 1 months through the previous month's end. V is Volatility. NAV is price. CS is Comet Strength (not shown). C is Comet, which is an ETF's risk-adjusted performance; the higher the better (not shown). This gives us the Rank column (shown).

Generally speaking, we want to own the top-ranked ETFs with 5 and 4 comets. (Comets, not stars, because unlike stars that are fixed, comets come into and out of prominence. We want our thinking, our metaphor aligning with reality.

Growth Charts

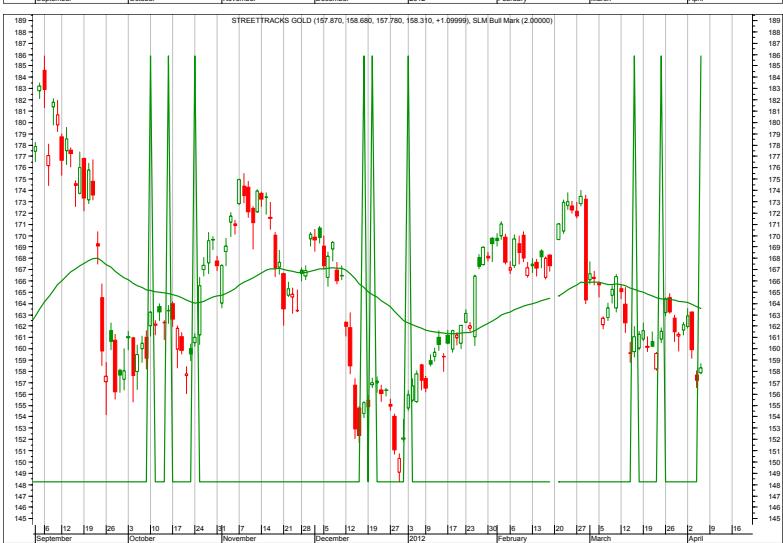

DVY—dividend

4/8 No changes.

4/2 Trending up.

3/26 Buy on this dip as noted on page 6.

GLD—Gold

4/8 Still think Gold is interesting, though stopped out. May reenter soon.

4/2 Gold is getting interesting because it is potentially forming an inverse head (lows in December) and shoulders (lows in September and March). Breakout neckline is at $173 and if successful, projects to $200.

3/26 The longer-term bear trend appears intact with lower highs and lower lows. But given inflation's increase, we'll see if GLD can reverse this.

EEM—MSCI Emerging Markets

4/8 No changes.

4/2 Lots of false signals last year. We'll see if the recent ones in March do better.

3/26 Another buy signal on EEM.

3/19 There's been many false signals, but I'll enter per the Growth Portfolio.

3/12 There was a short-term buy triggered, but standing aside.

3/5 Standing aside.

2/27 Also broke through the down trend.

2/21 This fund has rallied back to its intermediate-term down trend line. Time to take profits as noted on page 6.

Each chart shows daily prices, a moving average (smoothed red line on price portion), and spikes. The spikes show potential buy and sell short signals. Generally speaking, if the moving average is trending down, the spike shows a potential sell short. If the moving average is trending up, the spike shows a potential buy. The charts do not show selling or covering signals.

others? The Spanish stock market is hitting new lows. (I was short that market, but played the stops way to close.)

China too is slowing. A handful of investors are actually looking for China to move into recession. That would be a very big negative surprise.

In the meantime, the Fed is already committed to keeping rates low at least through the end of 2014. A few months of strong job growth didn't change that target, nor will one month's weakness. But if the weakness spreads, then it becomes a different equation. QE III may be revived.

I've mentioned before about the failure of the Dow Transportation Index to climb above its previous recovery highs, to join the Dow Industrials at their recovery highs. But it has continued to lag, to diverge negatively. The Transports are very closely linked to economic trends. Yes it points to the strength of oil and its effect on margins, but more than that, it reflects shipping (ground, sea, and air) and the movement of goods. This weakness bears keeping in mind. A pullback below Industrials at 12,735 and Transports below 5,029 will be a confirmation of this warning. It may in fact be signaling internal weakness that will spread from international markets to the domestic economy.

In the meantime, we will continue to buy and sell with close stops.

Just to clarify a couple of terms that I use regularly.

Short-term is days to weeks.

Intermediate-term is weeks to months.

Long-term is months to years.

Cyclical is 2-5 years.

Secular is 5 years to decades.

Bull market is a series of higher highs and higher lows.

Bear market is a series of lower lows and lower highs.

Neutral market is sideways without a discernible pattern.

Oddly, bull and bear markets may occur simultaneously, but over different time periods. For example, we may be in a secular bear market, but there are cyclical bull and bear markets.

Closing stops are "mental". I look at the position at quarter to the close. If it is trading below the stop (or above if short), then I act with the assumption the security will trigger that closing stop on that day. I sell (or cover) at the close that day.

4/8/12 ETF rankings through 3/31/12 are posted.

4/2/12 No changes.

3/26/12 Most of the work on a relative strength model between bond ETFs (Treasuries, Corporates, Internationals, Hi Yield, very short corporates) is completed. Right now JNK is still relatively cheap compared with Treasuries.

3/19/12 No changes.

3/12/12 No changes to the Newsletter.

3/5/12 Back testing of a new timing model is underway.

Descriptions & Disclosures

PORFOLIO DESCRIPTIONS (pages 2 and 6)

Our guiding goal is to provide the most return with the least risk consistently over time through bull and bear markets.

Income Portfolio, page2: Uses a proprietary selection methodology on all of the monitored bond-oriented ETFs to pick the top ETFs. I then use a proprietary timing model to decide whether to buy, sell, hold, or avoid.

Growth Portfolio, page 6: Uses the same methodologies as in the Income Portfolio, except as it is applied to stock-oriented ETFs.

Both portfolios were started on 1/1/10 with $100,000.

Portfolio changes will usually be made at the close on Monday, unless otherwise noted in any emailed hotline update or triggered stop orders. Issues are normally posted on Mondays by 1:35pm cst.

Portfolios are updated through the Friday close the week before.

Dividends are reinvested in additional shares. Commissions of $10/trade and short-term redemption charges, if any, are applied. Interest is zero for the money market (cash) position.

Wilshire 5000 TR (total return) includes dividend reinvestment. This is a broad based index of domestic stocks.

You may subscribe on the web site InvestmentST.com using PayPal or call 1-800-800-6563 for Amex, Visa, MasterCard, or Discover orders or send a check to the address on the front page. Subscriptions may be tax deductible.

The recurring monthly subscription is $24.00. An annual subscription is $240.00. Subscribers receive this weekly eNewsletter. There is no mailed issue. Subscribers retrieve the current weekly issue at the web site InvestmentST.com by logging in with a user name and password.

Unless otherwise noted, the weekly eNewsletter is posted by 1:35 PM central time each Monday, except for holidays and then on Tuesday. It may contain actionable, specific buy or sell advice to take that day at the Monday close in each portfolio. We may also use stop orders. For stops, check the ETF at quarter to the close. If it is below (or above) a stop level, assume it will close there and act on that. Portfolio data will be updated through the previous Friday's close. Fund symbols, rather than names, are the official identification used for activity.

GUARANTEE: Subscriptions may be cancelled at any time. Annual subscriptions are refundable for the weekly term remaining with a four-week minimum charge, using a 52-week count. Monthly subscriptions just expire.
