Despite the ongoing negative divergence between the Dow Industrials and the Dow Transportation indexes, regardless of the upcoming Fiscal Cliff wherein automatic tax increases and spending cuts are automatically scheduled to take effect on 1/1/13, the stock market continues to hang in there. Some indexes have rallied to recovery highs.

Clearly the market has finally fixated solely on Fed activities and plans of keeping interest rates low through 2015.

To be sure, low interest rates have been helping consumers, businesses, and the government. Housing, for example, appears to have finally hit bottom. Prices are down to where rising rents are pretty close to supporting each other, like in the Seventies when rents would

WEEKLY REVIEW

10/8 No changes, but watching for trend change in Treasuries.

10/1 No changes.

9/24 Will look to buy more MBB on weakness. This holding is driven by a timing/fundamental move (Fed buying), rather than a selecting move as MBB is in the bottom 20% (see page 3 for income selecting rankings).

9/17 No changes. (((CORRECTION as of 9/18/12—stopped out of TLH on 9/11 at 135.92.)))

9/10 No changes.

ETF data on pages 3, 7, 8, 9, and 10 are for the periods shown (12months, 9, 6, 3, and 1) through the previous month's close. Generally, we want to own the top ranked ETFs (shown in green) and avoid or short the lower ranked ETFs (shown in red).

This is the ETF Income Database and Ranking. It shows performance over the last 12, 9, 6, 3, and 1 months through the previous month's end. V is Volatility. NAV is price. CS is Comet Strength (not shown). C is Comet (not shown), which is an ETF's risk-adjusted performance; the higher the better. V, CS, and C are proprietary tools. Rank column shows the number of comets.

SLM Bond Timing Model

The SLM Bond Timing Model is based on the expected direction of the Corporate Bond market. The green bars are bullish (expect higher prices and lower yields) and the red bars are bearish (expect lower prices and higher yields). White spaces indicate that the previous signal is still in effect.

WEEKLY REVIEW

10/8 Treasuries are “cheap” relative to corporates, as seen on the chart above. The last time this happened Treasuries came roaring back (down trending blue line that was broken to the upside).

10/1 No changes.

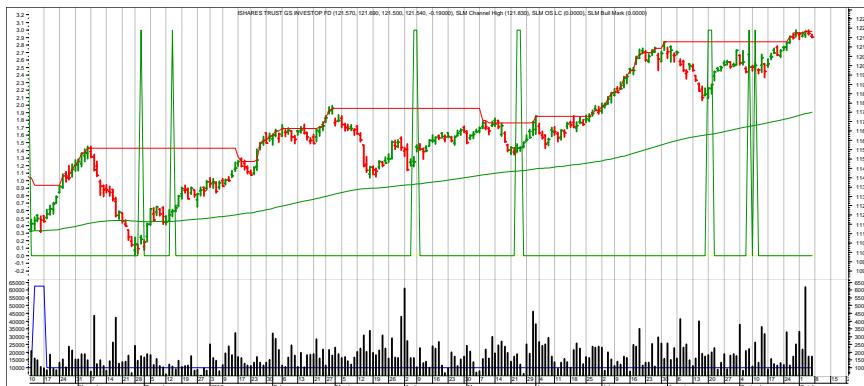

9/24 Treasuries appear relatively attractive to corporates.

9/17 Corporates (solid line) have held up relative to Treasuries (vertical bars), which sold off hard last week.

9/10 After the selloff in the last couple weeks, the bond market bounced back.

9/4 As mentioned last week, at least over the last 21 months, when the Barometer turns negative, it actually produces a very nice buy signal. This is shown by the blue up arrows on the chart above. The Barometer is based on the Corporate Bond market index (solid black line). I suspect this signaling will continue until the Fed clearly signals a bond market attitudinal change of mind from easing to tightening. And that presumably won’t happen for another year or two.

Income Charts

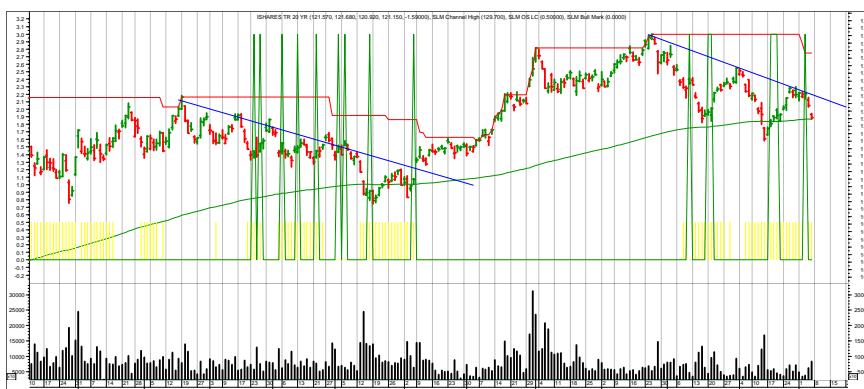

LQD—Investment Grade Corporate

10/8 No changes.
10/1 Corporate bonds rally to new highs.
9/17 No changes.
9/10 No changes.
9/4 As the reader may have assumed, the buy signals shown on the charts are constructed differently than the Bond Barometer. Hence the recent buy signal, rather than the sell signal on the selloff.

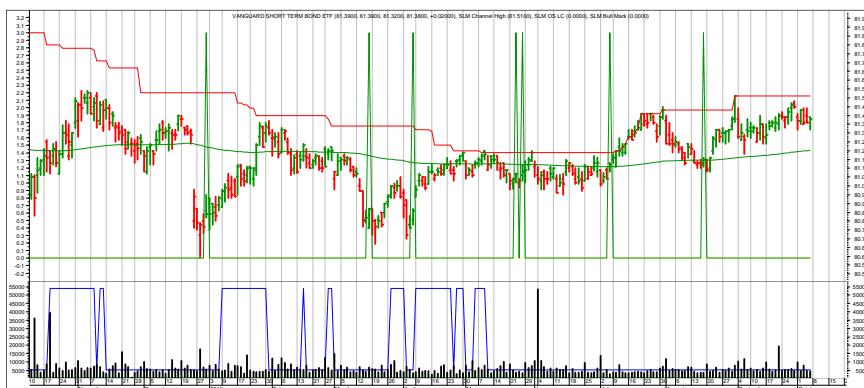

AGG—Aggregate Bond Index

10/8 No changes.
10/1 Rally back.
9/17 No changes.
9/10 No changes.
9/4 No change.

TLT—20+ year Treasuries

10/8 Needs to bounce through downtrend.
10/1 Short-term sequence of lower highs and lower lows?
9/17 Hard sell off. Maybe set up new buy.
9/10 No changes.
9/4 No change.

BSV—Short-term Corporates

10/8 No changes.
10/1 No changes.
9/17 No changes.
9/10 No changes.
9/4 No change.

Each chart shows daily prices, a moving average (smoothed red line on price portion), and spikes. The spikes show potential buy and sell short signals. Generally speaking, if the moving average is trending down, the spike shows a potential sell short. If the moving average is trending up, the spike shows a potential buy. The charts do not show selling or covering signals.

Growth Portfolio

WEEKLY REVIEW

10/8 No changes.

10/1 CORRECTION—on the stop levels, last week's comment should have read "MAY change weekly". The stop levels change based on the ETF price changes and may or may not change weekly, depending on market action.

On the market's short-term minor correction, I will purchase more shares of the World Growth ETFs as noted above to bring the portfolio to roughly 58% invested and 42% cash. In the weeks ahead, this model will begin to incorporate the top ETFs by risk-adjusted relative performance. These are shown on page 7.

As well, I still plan to incorporate shorting ETFs to take advantage of the downside and relative performance. See page 10. See page 11 for more details on the overall portfolio.

Incidentally the ongoing negative divergence continues (9/10 comment below), but the model incorporates stop levels to control risk.

• View Details • Edit • Delete • Print

5/24 Please note the new stop levels. These will now change weekly.

This page shows the top ranked ETF Growth Database. It shows performance over the last 12, 9, 6, 3, and 1 months through the previous month's end. V is Volatility. NAV is price. CS is Comet Strength (not shown). C is Comet, which is an ETF's risk-adjusted performance; the higher the better (not shown). This gives us the Rank column (shown).

Generally speaking, we want to own the top-ranked ETFs with 5 and 4 comets. (Comets, not stars, because unlike stars that are fixed, comets come into and out of prominence. We want our thinking, our metaphor aligning with reality.

This shows the ETF Growth Database and Ranking. It shows performance over the last 12, 9, 6, 3, and 1 months through the previous month's end. V is Volatility. NAV is price. Rank shows the number of comets from 5 to 1. The larger the better.

ETF GROWTH PORTFOLIO (reiteration)

The plan is to incorporate the following models into one ETF GROWTH PORTFOLIO.

WORLD GROWTH MODEL

EEM-emerging markets index
EFA-Europe, Asia, Far East index
IWM-Russell 2000 (domestic small cap) index
QQQ-Nasdaq 100 index
SPY-S&P 500 index

These 5 selections are static. The timing and stop model is designed to be either fully in or fully out in cash.

TOP ETF GROWTH MODEL

This will incorporate at least 5 and up to 15 top ETFs in our database. The model will include the same timing and stop mechanisms used in the World Growth Model. The selecting strategy, however, will be different than the World Growth Model. The World Growth Model uses only 5 preselected index ETFs. These 5 are static and won't change. The Top ETF Growth Model's positions, however, may change at least monthly. The selections will be based on using the top 20% risk-adjusted, relative performance ETFs in our database.

BOTTOM ETF GROWTH MODEL

This model will short at least 5 and up to 15 of the lowest ETFs in our database. When shorting, we try to profit from price declines. For example, the lowest rated ETF on page 10 PBW is down 42% over the last 12 months through 8/31/12. Assuming we caught that decline perfectly by shorting 1000 shares 12 months ago at $7.25 and covered today at $4.11, we would have a gain of $3,130 or 43% (excluding dividends and commissions). The top rated ETF on page 7 ending 8/31/12, meanwhile, gained 14%. This shorting model will use different timing and stop mechanisms. The selecting strategy will be based on the same risk-adjusted relative performance results, but will pick from the worst 20% ETFs in our database.

ETF GROWTH PORTFOLIO

The three models will be incorporated into the ETF Growth Portfolio.

Past performance does not guarantee future results, we know. I hope, however, that the final combination, the sum of these three models will provide a continuously high growth, low risk portfolio that makes money in bull or bear markets.

cover mortgage payments with only 10% down.

In turn, housing should help consumers feel wealthier, which in turn, should support spending.

The job market also appears to be getting stronger, not weaker, as the rate of unemployment finally dips below 8%.

European problems are receding from the headlines. The Greek market's ETF (GREK) is bouncing back over the last three months. Spain is too (EWP), but has a long way to go before fully recovering to where it was even a year ago.

So, things are improving and the market is recognizing it. What it has yet to discount is the real possibility of a domestic recession next year. Stay tuned.

Please see the specific portfolio pages for changes.

Just to clarify a couple of terms that I use regularly.

Short-term is days to weeks.

Intermediate-term is weeks to months.

Long-term is months to years.

Cyclical is 1-5 years.

Secular is 5 years to decades.

Bull market is a series of higher highs and higher lows.

Bear market is a series of lower lows and lower highs.

Neutral market is sideways without a discernible pattern.

Oddly, bull and bear markets may occur simultaneously, but only over different time periods. For example, we may be in a secular bear market, but there are cyclical bull and bear markets within that.

Closing stops are "mental". I look at the position at quarter to the close. If it is trading below the stop (or above if short), then I act with the assumption the security will trigger that closing stop on that day. I sell (or cover) at the close that day.

10/8 No changes.

10/1 See page 11 for commentary.

9/24 No changes.

9/17 The World Growth Model is updated on page 11.

9/10 ETF rankings through 8/31/12 are updated.

9/4 No changes.

8/27 ETF rankings are done through the previous month's end.

Descriptions & Disclosures

PORFOLIO DESCRIPTIONS (pages 2 and 6)

Our guiding goal is to provide the most return with the least risk consistently over time through bull and bear markets.

Income Portfolio, page2: Uses a proprietary selection methodology on all of the monitored bond-oriented ETFs to pick the top ETFs. I then use a proprietary timing model to decide whether to buy, sell, hold, or avoid.

Growth Portfolio, page 6: New selecting and timing model is nearing completion.

Both portfolios were started on 1/1/10 with $100,000.

Portfolio changes will usually be made at the close on Monday, unless otherwise noted in any emailed hotline update or triggered stop orders. Issues are normally posted on Mondays by 1:35pm cst (Tuesday if Monday is a holiday).

Portfolios are updated through the Friday close the week before.

Dividends are reinvested in additional shares. Commissions of $10/trade and short-term redemption charges, if any, are applied. Interest is zero for the money market (cash) position.

Wilshire 5000 TR (total return) includes dividend reinvestment. This is a broad based index of domestic stocks.

You may subscribe on the web site InvestmentST.com using PayPal or call 1-800-800-6563 for Amex, Visa, MasterCard, or Discover orders or send a check to the address on the front page. Subscriptions may be tax deductible.

The recurring monthly subscription is $24.00. An annual subscription is $240.00. Subscribers receive this weekly eNewsletter. There is no mailed issue. Subscribers retrieve the current weekly issue at the web site InvestmentST.com by logging in with a user name and password.

Unless otherwise noted, the weekly eNewsletter is posted by 1:35 PM central time each Monday, except for holidays and then on Tuesday. It may contain actionable, specific buy or sell advice to take that day at the Monday close in each portfolio. We may also use stop orders. For stops, check the ETF at quarter to the close. If it is below (or above) a stop level, assume it will close there and act on that. Portfolio data will be updated through the previous Friday's close. Fund symbols, rather than names, are the official identification used for activity.

GUARANTEE: Subscriptions may be cancelled at any time. Annual subscriptions are refundable for the weekly term remaining with a four-week minimum charge, using a 52-week count. Monthly subscriptions just expire.
