Headline Risk

Given that the S&P 500 is still trading below its 200 day simple moving average, as shown on the chart below, I thought of overlaying the preliminary sell signal model I am working on. Another example is shown on page 11. The ETF newsletter investment plan remains the same; that is, to try to buy the strongest ETFs on dips, while shorting the weakest ETFs on rallies. The selection model to identify the strong ones and weak ones is completed. It is the timing model that is still being tuned.

In the meantime, the coordinated easing headline, like many before it, was another one-day wonder event. Up and down. Investors are now getting word from the rating agencies like Moody's and Fitch that European sovereign debt will be

WEEKLY REVIEW

12/12 No changes. The likelihood of a European recession has increased with its new austerity package. This will mute our domestic economy strength in the short-term. Bonds should benefit.

11/28 No changes.

11/21 Buy LQD (Investment Grade Corporate Bonds) as noted above. This will bring the Income Portfolio to near fully invested. Please also note the sell stops.

11/14 No changes. Still 70% in and 30% cash.

11/7/11 No changes.

10/31 Raised the stop slightly on AGG. No other changes.

ETF data on pages 3, 7, 8, and 9 are for the periods shown (12months, 9, 6, 3, and 1) through the previous month's close. Generally, we want to own the top ranked ETFs (shown in green) and avoid or short the lower ranked ETFs (shown in red).

This is the ETF Income Database and Ranking. It shows performance over the last 12, 9, 6, 3, and 1 months through the previous month's end. V is Volatility. NAV is price. CS is Comet Strength (not shown). C is Comet (not shown), which is an ETF's risk-adjusted performance; the higher the better. V, CS, and C are proprietary tools. Rank column shows the number of comets.

SLM Bond Timing Model

The SLM Bond Timing Model is based on the expected direction of the Corporate Bond market. The green bars are bullish (expect higher prices and lower yields) and the red bars are bearish (expect lower prices and higher yields). White spaces indicate that the previous signal is still in effect.

WEEKLY REVIEW

12/12 Still bullish on bonds.

12/5 Even though the Bond Timing Model shifted to bearish based on trends, I am still on a bullish buy.

11/28 Still on a buy corporate bond signal.

11/21 Corporate bonds have come down into a buy zone. See the Portfolio page for a buy signal.

11/14 Still more whipsaws as investors trade the news out of Europe. But our economy continues to muddle along, confirming the long-term trend down in interest rates.

11/4 Whole lotta whipsaws going on. Whipsaws are short-term trades in and out of the market due to volatility without a clear trend. Long-term, however, the trend is still up for bond prices and down for yields.

WEEKLY REVIEW

12/12 Sold QQQ last week, taking profits. Still holding DGL, but may get stopped out today at close. Apparently investors are selling gold to scramble for dollars.

12/5 We're in the bounce mentioned last week. Will watch for resistance. Please watch for possible emails this week for updates.

11/28 I will buy for the bounce back into resistance.

11/21 No change. Still in cash, waiting for a pullback.

11/14 No change.

11/4 No changes.

10/31 No changes. Will wait for a pullback to enter.

10/24 After confirming a down market, the market turned

This page shows the top ranked ETF Growth Database. It shows performance over the last 12, 9, 6, 3, and 1 months through the previous month's end. V is Volatility. NAV is price. CS is Comet Strength (not shown). C is Comet, which is an ETF's risk-adjusted performance; the higher the better (not shown). This gives us the Rank column (shown).

Generally speaking, we want to own the top-ranked ETFs with 5 and 4 comets. (Comets, not stars, because unlike stars that are fixed, comets come into and out of prominence. We want our thinking, our metaphor aligning with reality.

This shows the ETF Growth Database and Ranking. It shows performance over the last 12, 9, 6, 3, and 1 months through the previous month's end. V is Volatility. NAV is price. Rank shows the number of comets from 5 to 1. The larger the better.

Growth Charts

QQQ—OTC

- 12/12 Sold position on the fall out of the resistance zone.
- 12/5 We're in the resistance zone of 57-58. So watch for a potential turn.
- 11/28 Buying for a bounce back to 57-58 (about 6%).

DGL—Gold

- 12/12 Continue to monitor.
- 12/5 Given coordinated easing from central banks around the world, we have a buy signal on DGL. See the Growth Portfolio on page 6.
- 11/28 No change.
- 11/21 Another example of buy signals on a higher ranked ETF.

XLF—Financials

- 12/12 This is an example of a weak ETF with sell short signals. (FYI, final timing model is still under construction.)

Each chart shows daily prices (top portion), volume (bottom portion), a moving average (smoothed red line on price portion), a relative performance indicator between the ETF and S&P 500 (orange line), and red spikes. The spikes show potential buy and sell short signals. Generally speaking, if the moving average is trending down, the spike shows a potential sell short. If the moving average is trending up, but the ETF declines, the spike shows a potential buy. The charts do not show selling or covering signals.

downgraded.

On top of this, a European recession is increasingly clear. They are in one or about to be. The new worry investor's face is how much their slowdown will impact our economy. The stock market is priced for continued recovery, not for an unexpected slowdown or recession in the quarters ahead. This fear has led to a sell off today (Monday).

This saw tooth action of up and down each other day and week without a discernable trend is expected to continue. Some have identified this as headline risk, but at this stage, it is clear that the underlying fundamentals of economic activity are the issue and how that will play out.

An example of this is gold's reaction to the easing. If the easing was perceived as inflationary, as a stimulus to the economy, gold should be up. Same with oil. But both commodities are trading lower. This suggests, as mentioned last week, that things may in fact be fairly "bad" out there. Is a recession looming?

For the portfolios, I am long the bond market and out of the stock market. The gold position will probably be stopped out today. For now this seems to be a decent enough strategy. If headlines change, however, I expect to get back in, while trying not to get whipsawed.

Just to clarify a couple of terms that I use.

Short-term is days to weeks.

Intermediate-term is weeks to months.

Long-term is months to years.

Bull market is a series of higher highs and higher lows.

Bear market is a series of lower lows and lower highs.

Neutral market is sideways without a discernible pattern.

12/12/11 No changes.

12/5/11 No changes.

11/28/11 No changes.

11/21/11 No updates.

11/14/11 Added a couple of new dividend-oriented ETFs to the database (VIG and SDY). Also began work on the new short-term sell timing model (see bottom chart on page 11 for an example). I hope to have the selection and timing models combined into one model by the New Year.

11/4/11 Work on the new short-term timing model continues.

Descriptions & Disclosures

PORFOLIO DESCRIPTIONS (pages 2 and 6)

Our guiding goal is to provide the most return with the least risk consistently over time through bull and bear markets.

Income Portfolio, page2: Uses a proprietary selection methodology on all of the monitored bond-oriented ETFs to pick the top ETFs. I then use a proprietary timing model to decide whether to buy, sell, hold, or avoid.

Growth Portfolio, page 6: Uses the same methodologies as in the Income Portfolio, except as it is applied to stock-oriented ETFs.

Both portfolios were started on 1/1/10 with $100,000.

Portfolio changes will usually be made at the close on Monday, unless otherwise noted in any emailed hotline update or triggered stop orders. Issues are normally posted on Mondays by 1:35pm cst.

Portfolios are updated through the Friday close the week before.

Dividends are reinvested in additional shares. Commissions of $10/trade and short-term redemption charges, if any, are applied. Interest is zero for the money market (cash) position.

Wilshire 5000 TR (total return) includes dividend reinvestment. This is a broad based index of domestic stocks.
